The president has too much of international importance on his mind to be worried by anything that can be spared him. He always has received delegations of suffragists most courteously when it was possible. This comment by Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the congressional committee of the national American woman suffrage association, is a correct and appreciative statement of the doubtless reflects the opinion of the great majority of suffragists. Even believers in militancy under certain circumstances agree that the president's recent visit to New York was not such a circumstance.

KATE FRIEND, Editor

the Glorious Fourth of July will eb upon us in just another seven days. The writer can but revert to the last of her patriotic holidays and note the contrast between then and now. She was on the Atlantic with a happy crew of passengers bound for a summer holiday in the Old World. Everybody was talking plans, everybody was to see the continent and Great Britain. So congenial had become this crew that all entered into a wonderful Fourth of July tournament. Races, contests, athletic and otherwise, were planned. No less a celebrity ran the three legged race than the bride daughter of the Sigels, who was committed to prison last Wednesday. She was on her honeymoon which included a visit to Mrs. Anna Castelan Gould. There was "Mary Elizabeth," the clever young woman who has made famous the tea rooms of New York city and Boston, in the potato race. The one armed general from Gettysburg entered into the spirit of fun. The green passenger who had never before sniffed salt air was an onlooker. The teacher of ballet in Metropolitan Opera house was there as well as Belgian nuns, happy in the thought of returning to their mother-house. There were directors of touring parties studying assiduously their details of itinerary. And thus it was. The games were on lower deck, pillow fights, sack races and what not. Two women doctors appeared as Red Cross nurses with bandage and bottle. At 5 o'clock, out came the stewards with tea service. Later, all in full dress, the grand salon was tere for dinner. Here, patriotic bunting, flags and other decorations were elaborate. The ship orchestra gave patriotic program. Singing of the national anthem interrupted the national service. Each woman found at her plate a box of chocolates with red, white and blue cover, also a pretty patriotic fan. After the dinner, there was a grand ball on deck with orchestra between first and second class cabins. Decorations were here and a supper service offered for intermission. It was all great fun, and a novel Fourth of July, for that ship's crew. But presto! it changed for the few short days when the war cloud burst. Directors of parties were hurry skurry to get their followers out of the threatened detention. Individuals found their plans all awry. It was the first ship home for many; it was summer interrupted for all. The patriotic pleasure of the Glorious Fourth was banished for the anxious thought of how our country would be involved. But with this consternation, there reigned an increase of veneration for the nation's holiday which gave that novel celebration on the boat. A deeper reverence for our country has since come under the wise guidance of our wonderful president. One by one the countries have become involved, until now we reach the Fourth of July different from any the United States has ever known. It should be a Glorious Fourth where Old Glory is respected as never before.

"The Same Fourth."

For several years, previous to the Fourth of July, the press has been full of argument for a same celebration. Statistics have been gathered which are appalling in what they say for loss and life and mutilation of limb. We of the South can not appreciate so much because of climatic conditions. But in the cooler North the firing of crackers, cannon and other powder devices has been the practice, the pendulum of danger has swung to its limit, and the press seeks to establish an equilibrium. Thought has brought revolution. What has been the good from this hilarious, boisterous Fourth of July? Nothing. What should the Fourth of July bring? Respect for the folds of the flag under which our independence has been maintained; above all, this year, for the stand our nation has in the eyes of all the world. Many plans have been followed for a sane Fourth of July program. Especially, these have touched the children, for it is they who will be the patriots to come. Eliminating all order of enjoyment for this national holiday it is today for mothers to observe the Fourth of July, 1915, in a way never before observed. Tell the children what the American flag means today, how it is respected, how its honor has been preserved by President Wilson. Inculcate a love for America, a respect for the flag, and reverence for the mighty man who has tided us through this critical period. Mexico south of us and Europe east of us. Mothers, neglect not your opportunities. Make this Fourth of July the opportunity for a lesson to your child.

Society Notes

Mrs. Seth Mills of Waco Vista is among the early tourists for California. She will be absent through the season.

A Dallas ride of the past week made her marriage vows upon the spacious veranda of her home where the pillars were twined with vines, a fringe of the vine dropped between, and other arrangements to make a brilliant and a beautiful scene, to say nothing of its being cool. Waco must take more kindly to the al fresco wedding.

This bride adopted the idea from the summer home in the East by having blooming white oleanders along the veranda edge.

Mrs. Eula Cauffield Montgomery of San Antonio is out on the Cauffield ranch near McGregor, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Watt Cauffield.

It is now but the very few days before we will hear from Mrs. Wilkes as to the chairman of her several Cotton Palace departments. These are about complete.

When the Cotton Palace committees those to work in the woman's department are named, some surprises will be met in the personnel of those serving as chairmen.

Miss Lucile Hill, who is visiting school friends in Iowa is having the delightful experience of an automobile tour over the state. She is due at home

THE first six months of this year are over with us and taking into consideration general conditions, we consider that we have enjoyed a remarkably good business for the first half of the year. Despite some of the disadvantages that conditions have caused in the markets we have been able to meet every great merchandising event that we have successfully established in many instances we have established new selling records. But putting forth the same degree of effort and hard work in assembling merchandise and taking advantage of our commercial prestige we have been able to keep our prices down to, and in many cases even lower than in Nineteen-fourteen. We have had employed the same number of people, in fact a few more, during these first six months of Nineteen-fifteen than in Nineteen-fourteen.

All this has not been accomplished by sitting back and waiting for something to happen. The small army of workers at the Sanger Store simply increased their working energy to a point that made up for what some termed conditions. And last night we closed our books on the first six months of the year Nineteen-fifteen feeling that we have done our best in the interest of our patrons and in the interest of those who serve our patrons and knowing that we have enjoyed, as a reward therefore, a remarkably good business.

We enter tomorrow upon the first of the last six months of the year with renewed energy and ambition to keep this business going ahead. We can see the breaking of the clouds of "conditions" and just a little way beyond we see the greatest crops and prosperity in the history of this great country.

Extremely low prices in all departments of the store mark our determination to close out our present stocks. Some of our buyers are already in the markets buying the new merchandise for the coming season while others are planning to leave for the markets within a few days. With the records of the first six months of the year behind us we are marching into the last six months of the year with a firm determination to make new records in value-giving, in low prices and in pleasing our patrons.

The Misses Dilworth, Miss Marian Dilworth driving, are a party to go over in automobile for Dallas. They leave with Monday morning.

Although still unable to leave her bed, Miss Lucile Goch has recovered sufficient strength from her recent operation to be removed home from Provident Sanitarium.

An out of town note of local interest finds Mrs. Frederick Ely of the university colony in Austin remaining at home this summer in order to supervise the building of a new home.

Another very few days will find an overland party starting for the Pacific Slope. This will include Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Simmons with Dr. and Mrs. Louis Roddy of Washington street.

Among the homes in prospect for closing is that of the Naman residence on North Fifteenth. Mrs. Fannie Naman and Mrs. Robert Silvers are taking early passage for Kool Kolorado.

Tag Day has resulted in a wonderful impetus being given humane attention. Memberships are discussed, and reports of cases needing attention reaching all through the residence district.

As one of the late floral fancies, we note the season's flower knotted among the streamers of the tulle used for society decorations. This breaks the sameness and adds grace as well as color dash.

It imparts an atmosphere of elegant refinement to have one's bed linen perfumed; but, this done, it should be the care to have this perfume just the suggestion, very, very delicate, lest the refinement become just the opposite.

The souvenirs of Dr. Witt and his bride are now valued by their attendants, those for the maids being friendship link bracelets inscribed with initials of bride and groom. It seems that this latest fancy in jewels has come to meet all sorts of society use.

learning of the cordial compliment paid Miss Dixie Wood for her primary methods as exposed in the summer normal at Port Arthur. Miss Wood is also meeting with cordial reception socially.

It was the hope of all concerned that Miss Fern Thurman's sweet voice could be heard at the marriage of her cousin, Dr. Guy Witt, to Miss Stella Lacy. But illness prevented. It was the sweet thought of the bride to send her bouquet to the bedside of Miss Thurman.

Two parks in one day, donated to the city, is quite the record, is it not? And who began park agitation for Waco? None but the progressive women. The donations to the last commission was the Old Spring on Riverside, from the Henry Downs chapter and the Colonial Hill site from W. W. Seely. Truly, Waco deserves to be known as the "Park City" of Texas.

Can it be possible! And yet it is told that at one of the June weddings, the own mother did not say goodbye to the daughter, because of the pushing forward of the guests after the ceremony. When will Waco society learn the decorum of a wedding? Not one guest is going to rise until the bridal party together with those in the family seats are well out of the church. Then those in front seats, in turn, make exit, thus giving order where now it is chaos and unpardonable chaos at that.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

What They Are Doing in Various Phases of Their Work in Texas

Reported Weekly in The Waco Morning News by Miss Kate Friend, Editor, 525 Terrace Row, Waco, Texas.

PRACTICAL PLAN WORKS IN HOUSTON SETTLEMENT

Visitors to the recent sociological congress at Houston were shown institutions in that city which follow sociological conditions. One plan which has proved practical and very much impressed some of the earnest women of other cities was that in which the school ground is utilized for other than classroom work. The grounds, the school and the settlement work in conjunction, and the report is success. Should any women be interested, the women of Houston, if approached, can give more of detail.

JAPAN WOMEN ROUSED TO EQUAL RIGHTS

The last to report considerable activity in political circles is the little principality of Japan. The women there are looking toward equal franchise rights just as are those of other countries. The opposition brings forward the militancy of England as proof that Japanese women must be suppressed. The leader among the women argues that, this very course with the English women will have tendency to keep her nation conservative. It is the same old story; the idea is new in Japan. Opposition with every radical change comes first; next, acquiescence, and, lastly, active support. The Japanese women are combating the first stage at present.

IMMIGRATION THREATENS PROBLEM FOR THE WOMEN

Miss Sadie American, national president of the Council of Jewish Women, and Miss Helen Boswell, a club woman of national note, together with Mrs. Pennybacker, are, perhaps, the three women most directly in touch with the immigration question. This has been perplexing in the past, it will be more so in the future. The women of Texas will become personally involved, since it is to our Texas ports that so many immigrants arrive. The prediction is plausible that the present war will seek a new home in the New World, and this means hundreds coming into Texas. Miss Boswell spoke upon this subject as she had studied it in the New York ports. But for the women of Texas, the new order of things will be not so much international but local. Will these incoming women organize into bands of servants? Or so, will they supersede the negro in manual work? Or, will they go to the farm and there increase the illiteracy of the rural homes? These are servants more amenable than those from the Old World. They are taught to follow in the foot steps of their fathers. If these fathers and mothers have been out of service, they know nothing else. Will their coming lead to organization of housewives' clubs where principles of American service are taught? This all remains to be seen. In the meantime, the prediction is that Texas will come into more direct touch and this immigration problem than other southern states, owing to the vast amount of uncultivated land within her borders.

BUSINESS WOMEN UNITE WITH MEN'S ASSOCIATION

Austin has an organization known as the Professional Women's club. Austin has also a Retail Merchants' association. Invitation went from the latter to the former, who responded promptly, for a joint session. The result is, this women's organization has assumed arrangements for the state Retail association, which is just adjourned. This joint session was opportunity for the women to explain their scope and purpose. Their speaker was Miss Mamie Gearing, one of the best known among the Texas women, and specifically known as promoter of household economics week in Austin. To show appreciation for the co-operation of the women, the men will give them complimentary entertainment in the near future. It all leads to the same starting point, and that is, no matter what the enterprise, the men are coming to depend upon the women to carry forward the movement.

SENTIMENT IS GROWING AGAINST RURAL SCHOOLS

The past week found one of the trustees of rural school in McLennan county making public statement decrying condition of schools and school houses in the country. This is the sign of an awakening conscience which has slept long upon the rights of the child in the country. This trustee is free to say that right in his own county are buildings fifty years behind the times. The women have known this; what is more, the women in the county have known this for many years. The old feeling of the father who says the school was good enough for him, it is good enough for his child, is fast dying out. This McLennan county trustee advocates a trip through his county, with kodak, to expose some conditions. It is hoped that the trip will be taken and that the kodak will be freely used. Nothing would serve better to give impetus towards better conditions.

Nor will the inspection of the buildings be all. Teachers must have standard raised as well as building. Yet before the teacher can be held responsible, that teacher must have surroundings such as will enable effective work.

So with better surroundings, more respect for ability and character of teacher, the child will be stimulated to higher endeavor.

HAVE THE WOMEN HEEDED MRS. FALL'S CAUTION?

In her formal address before the State Federation in Galveston, Mrs. Henry Fall ascribed the high cost of living largely to the women's negligence in regard to weights, purity of food and careless buying. While we do not charge the women with all this ill, it can be gainsaid that much of it is just. But it is not for the club women; it is for the women at large. It is more than all for the women who allow their maids to go to the telephone, make order, without once inquiring the price or inspecting the purchase. If every woman in Texas would make the sacrifice and do her own marketing, a revolution would take place. The table would be better provided, the bills would be cheaper and the impulse to cheat stifled. It is but natural that a grocer will make the sacrifice and do his duty for his dozen. He knows those two will not be returned. But if the woman makes her own selection, she will see that two decayed pieces find no way into her bundle. Much of the green grocer's order finds way to the garbage can. A good price has been paid, and nothing in return. Is not this encouraging high living? Many women feel their economic duty done when they inspect the monthly bills and make sure there has been no over-charge and that credits are made. This is the small part. Mrs. Fall is right. Women are negligent, careless in their marketing, and there should be more personal supervision. There is assurance that, this done, the high cost of living will not be so great.

Again, Mrs. Fall said, women are not particular enough as regards pure and clean food. Here they are, too, guilty. The woman who never enters the grocery or the market from where her supplies come has no knowledge of conditions there. If she would give this personal attention, her alert eye would soon detect dangers. The several women could soon bring about a new order of things within that market or grocery. Of if the mistress does not care to take this personal responsibility, can she not instruct her maid, and have the maid do the buying? So long as the indifference is shown by the buyer, the same will be shown by the seller. Mrs. Fall was very direct in laying her charges to the women themselves. While the high cost of living is a composite condition, the women can not evade their responsibility in bringing about the present state of things.

MANY MOTHERS' CLUBS ARE TOO RESTRICTED

The former Mothers' clubs, now called by the more elastic name Parent-Teachers, have too restricted an idea of their sphere. The average club seeks to have grounds attractive, rooms with pictures, entertainment for the children, piano in school, and so on. All well and good. This is as it should be. But there is a much higher field of endeavor, and a complex field, for the work of the parent and teacher for the good of the children reaches into many fields and fills many conditions. We were noting the other day the activities of one such club; in Dallas, we believe it is. The club met to make arrangements for the summer vacation, and the school was in session. It was noticed that the club has various sections, each with its chairman; one for visiting among the mothers of the immediate neighborhood, one for securing new members among the new-comers into the school district; one for supervision of the school grounds, to see that these were kept up to the standard during vacation; one to have ready a list of names and addresses of the parents; one to have plans for entertainments during the school term. Now, is not this a well organized club? There is even a higher work for such clubs, that of watching the state school laws, provision for students, the city school board, and such, not for adverse criticism unless such is necessary, but for intelligent acquaintance with all which is done for the betterment of the school system. The scope for such influence is unlimited. The Parent-Teachers' association locally are not yet arisen to this broader field of possibility. They are coming to it soon; be assured of that.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE SUBJECT BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE

Texas was not alone in having her legislature consider the equal suffrage question. This figured prominently before a number of similar bodies. Divorce laws were in twenty-two states; collateral bills abetted by the women were in seven. These being, the mothers' pensions, women police, minimum wage, eugenic marriages. Of these, the Texas women concentrated upon the amendment which would shut the door to the individual vote. Seven states adopted such an amendment. Next fall, the question whether or not women shall vote will be put squarely to the individual man. These are Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, for next fall; South Dakota and West Virginia, for the fall of 1916. Tennessee passed the same, but this must pass a second legislature before it can be submitted. Arkansas also passed favorably, but the state constitution prohibits more than three amendments at one election; these had been passed, so the measure of the suffrage amendment is filed with secretary of state to be first in the next election for constitutional amendment.

California legislature adopted a resolution of unqualified indorsement for suffrage as it had been tested in that state.

Eleven States Defeat.

On the other hand, eleven states met defeat. Texas was among these, three votes only having killed the measure. The supporters claim a great gain, but as this three votes was lacking in the house for a two-thirds majority, it never reached the senate. Our neighbor state, New Mexico, passed a law providing for the appointment of women on the governing boards of state institutions, at the discretion of the governor. Texas had this some years ago, when Mrs. Helen Stoddard, Miss Eleanor Brackenridge and Mrs. Cone Johnson were appointed regents of the College of Industrial Arts; since, the state board for the establishment of the Girls' Industrial home, also the appointment of Mrs. E. W. Bounds, woman member of the board for Boys' Industrial school.

PUT ASIDE BROWNING PUT ASIDE SHAKESPEARE

Women whose hearts are broad and who reach out in personal and social service, are beginning to realize that "Put aside Browning and Shakespeare; there is live work to do." We say, dear women, stop this. Of course there is work to do for the living. But, is there scarce a woman who today who does not reach beyond and lend the helping hand? Sometimes, when women's hearts are involved, it is to the detriment of practical thought. What originated the Browning and Shakespeare club, or the study club in general? The desire to keep alert mentally as well as physically. What was the result? A quivering realization that which soon reached beyond the character in real life. Would this awakening have come had their been no stimulus? No. Then, is not the study club, in a general impetus in life? It is. From study, Shakespeare above all others, we learn human nature. That intimate knowledge is applied to the everyday men and women. We understand them so intimately if we had not received this impulse? We could not. Then, the study is incentive towards a clearer sympathy with human motives. Our hearts might go out just the same, but without the mental understanding of subject, the heart could not accomplish what it does. Study of the higher authors is a wonderful strength to the practical worldman, men and women in the outer world, in other words, social service.

Again, Browning and Shakespeare should not be put aside. There must be something to draw women together. You can not draw them into this close companionship through a purely abstract idea. Take them the concrete. Bring them into the study, where they can argue, give impressions, interest emotions. Others catch this, their sympathies are broadened, their interpretations of human actions clearer. Then, is not the study a training for this higher service? But, what individual is strengthened and more likely to respond to this appeal from the world without.

Does not the evolution of the club sustain this? It does. First, organize purely for selfish pleasure, this very training within the study club has created the desire to do something higher, some good to mankind. Thus, the purely study club no longer exists. But without the study feature, no club would exist long. See the club extension reports of the several state organizations of Texas women, and you will find the increase rapid. But, what you find one without some study feature? Not one, unless it is a home economics or a civic club, and then always some address or some educational feature is incorporated.

No, we must cease this idea of no study. The study is the ground work of it all. There is the common impulse, the common meeting ground for interchange of thought, the common interest. Out of this comes the broader action, the going forward to help others towards a happier and a better world.

MEMORIAL TO MRS. WILSON GIVEN WIDE PUBLICITY

The last number of the Ladies Home Journal is out with the Ellen Wilson memorial page. This contains the portrait of Mrs. Wilson, also the letter written from her grief-stricken husband, expressing his appreciation for the space given the movement to memorialize his wife. All the country knows how congress gave special attention to that bill so near the heart of Mrs. Wilson which bettered conditions of living in the poorest district of Washington City. This love for humanity was a strong trait in Mrs. Wilson, and to better conditions was her life work. Soon after her passing, women of her native state, Georgia, decided upon the plan to erect a memorial to her in the poorest district of her native land. It was not long before a little band of those who had known Mrs. Wilson and worked with her, the women of her native state, Georgia, decided upon the plan to erect a memorial in detail by the Ladies Home Journal. The wide circulation of the Journal will bring this plan into immediate prominence. In the meantime, as has been said, the Southwestern Journal, each state with its special appointee. The Texas supervisor is Mrs. Edward Rotan.

Rotan is securing women of prominence and ability throughout the state; her board, so to speak, organized, the work will be furthered according to the general plan as promulgated by the Georgia memorial. Already, in addition to securing helpers, Mrs. Rotan has sent the plan for Ellen Wilson Memorial together with request for publicity to the leading Texas dailies.

Plan as Outlined.

The title of the adopted explains itself. "The Ellen Wilson fund for the Christian education of mountain youth. The design is simple, to create by gifts from individuals and great from the American people, a fund which will perpetuate of this noble woman. This will create a permanent endowment, the interest to be used in educating boys and girls otherwise denied opportunity for a broad education. Three features have entered into the formation of this society, first, religious; second, patriotic; third, in the Southland, all good qualities in the life of Mrs. Wilson. Surely, these principles appeal to men and women everywhere. The young people of the mountains are most needy of these higher ideals. The children and youth will be sent to school and raised to what would have been the longer life work of Mrs. Wilson, broader mentality, higher principles, and a Christian character which would exist to open to thousands of boys and girls now these know nothing but the mountain fastnesses; then, they will realize and be a part of the broader America.

Obviously upon this opportunity to memorialize one of the grand women of the nation; a woman who gave freely of personal service and of her wisdom. Women of Texas should look even more favorably upon the opportunity to be a small part in elevating life among the most illiterate section of the South.

NOTABLE GATHERING HELD OF CONFEDERATE INTEREST

Many old residents of Texas, Daughters of the Confederacy in particular, will hear with interest of a notable event down in Hearn. In this, Mrs. T. C. Westbrook, a true dame of the Old South, and a woman whose name was known to all as patriotic, hospitable and philanthropic, celebrated her seventy-fourth birthday. Mrs. Westbrook enjoyed her natal day by gathering under the shade of her time-honored oaks some of the most prominent Daughters of the Confederacy in all Texas. The celebration of this birthday is chronicled as the most memorable social event in the history of Hearn.

Besides a very large representation of the Hearn friends of Mrs. Westbrook, those present on this enjoyable occasion were the members of Mrs. Westbrook's household, Mrs. D. A. Munn, of Crockett, past president of Texas division for life, the highest office in the gift of the division, her well known work of having the birthday of President Davis made a legal holiday in Texas, has endeared her to all southerners.

Mrs. John H. Reagan of Palestine, widow of the great Texas, greatly beloved by Daughters and Veterans alike for her many fine qualities and high order of patriotism.

Mrs. S. H. Watson of Waxahachie, the compiler of "The Book of the Old South," and many story gems of literature scarce a woman who today who does not reach beyond and lend the helping hand? Sometimes, when women's hearts are involved, it is to the detriment of practical thought.

What originated the Browning and Shakespeare club, or the study club in general? The desire to keep alert mentally as well as physically. What was the result? A quivering realization that which soon reached beyond the character in real life. Would this awakening have come had their been no stimulus? No. Then, is not the study club, in a general impetus in life? It is. From study, Shakespeare

Her record as historian was marked by her foresight in having made it possible that every Confederate soldier could place his record in the archives of the state.

Miss Katie Daffin, superintendent of Confederate Women's Home in Austin, needs no introduction to anyone familiar with Texas affairs or with any of the numerous great movements for literary, historical and civic betterment. Mrs. S. W. Sholars of Orange, president of the Pelham chapter of that city, is known as "The White Rose of the Division," and in the center of the brilliant coterie of women at the Westbrook home. MILK TO BE GOOD, IS COOL AND CLEAN

SWEET MILK SOURS VERY SLOWLY WHEN TEMPERATURE IS LOW.

CLEAN RECEPTACLES NEEDED

They Aid Also in Keeping the Fluid Sweet—Expert Suggestions on Care of Milk.

Washington, June 26.—With the advent of warm weather the care of milk in the home becomes more complex than during the late autumn and winter. Heat to the extent accumulated by allowing milk to stand on a warm porch or in the sun is enough to start the bacteria in milk to multiplying at a rapid rate and thus make it unfit for use as sweet milk, according to the dairy specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The hot days also bring the flies, the great germ carriers, and the clouds of dust laden with bacteria, which, when coming to rest on milk receptacles, may easily contaminate the milk.

Milk is regarded as a natural culture medium for bacteria, and the rapidity with which the various forms will multiply, under the proper temperatures, is astonishing. It has been shown that if a cubic centimeter (about 1-2 teaspoonful) of milk containing 10 bacteria is kept at 68 degrees temperature for 24 hours, the bacteria will have multiplied into about 61,000. In the same milk, if held at 50 degrees, the growth of bacteria would be very small, possibly as low as 40 in 24 hours. Milk which contains a large number of bacteria is either not fresh or has come from a diseased cow or has otherwise been contaminated.

Flies are possibly the most dangerous bacteria carriers which are likely to come in contact with milk. These scavengers may convey the germs of typhoid fever or other contagious diseases from the sick room or excreta to the milk. Typhoid epidemics have been caused by flies spreading the germs. Milk should be guarded from flies as rigorously as you would avoid exposure to disease.

Cows are now out on pasture, and milk is more easily produced under sanitary conditions than during the winter months when the cows are stabled continuously. Milk may be handled by the farmer in the most correct and sanitary methods known, and yet if it is not cooled immediately after milking and kept cool until consumed, it very soon begins to change and grow sour. In fact, the bacterial content increases rapidly as long as the milk remains above 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The bacteria are dormant or increase slowly at a lower temperature. For this reason, every precaution for keeping milk cold from the time it is produced until it reaches the consumer is essential, and especially so during the warm weather.

Milk may absorb impurities whenever it is exposed to the air, or placed in unclean vessels. The amount or degree of contamination depends on the cleanliness of the air and of the utensils. Even the air of a so-called clean room contains some impurities. If the producer and dealer have done their duty, there is left at the consumer's door a bottle of clean, cold, unadulterated milk. But the consumer also has responsibilities in handling milk so that it continues to be fit for consumption, especially as food for babies. The milk in the home may be placed in unclean vessels or exposed unnecessarily to the air, or not kept cool until the time of using. Thus things may happen to the milk affecting its quality, many of which are caused through carelessness.

Receiving Milk at the Home.
The expression "a bottle of clean, cold, unadulterated milk" describes the kind of milk which should be delivered to the home. The method of dipping milk from large cans and pouring it into the customer's receptacle in the street, with all the incident exposure to the air, not always the cleanest, is a bad practice. Drawing milk from the faucet of a retainer's can is almost as bad as dipping milk, although the milk is not exposed to the air as long as by the dipping process. Besides the insubstantial part of this method, some consumers, unless the milk is kept well agitated, are likely to receive less than their proportion of cream. The question of setting out a night an uncovered vessel which collects thousands of bacteria from the street dust before the milk is put into it, is obviously very unsanitary, and yet it is practiced to a large extent. If milk is to be received in bowl or pail by the consumer, it is worth while to have it delivered personally to some member of the family, or if the receptacle is to be placed in waiting for the milk delivery, it should be covered with a plate, or better still, a glass preserving jar may be used, in which nothing but milk is put. The jars with the glass tops are preferable; no rubber bands should be used. Direct sunlight on the bottle or glass warms it rapidly and increases the bacterial content. Milk which is delivered very early in the morning, say at 4 a. m., and remains out-of-doors until 8 or 10 o'clock, is very likely to become warm and less fit for human consumption than if it were taken in the house and placed in the refrigerator early in the morning.

Milk should not be transferred from the original bottle into another receptacle until just before consumption. The bottle should be kept covered with a paper cap, or an inverted tumbler as long as the milk is in it. Milk deteriorates by exposure to the air in the pantry, kitchen or nursery. Housewives are familiar with the ability milk has to absorb smells from strong foods, like fish, cabbage or onions. It is obvious, therefore, that such foods should be kept out of the refrigerator which contains milk.

If the milk is received in a bowl, pail or other receptacle, instead of a bottle, the same rules apply to the keeping of the milk as those mentioned above for bottled milk. Milk from the grocery store or delivery which is kept in a can, open most of the time, and possibly without refrigeration, is to be strictly avoided.

Care of Refrigerator.
The refrigerator, unless kept scrupulously clean, often is in itself a source of the production of bad flavor in milk. The refrigerator should be inspected at short intervals, at which times the outlet for the melted ice

FORMULA FOR PICKING A WIFE.

Scientist Tells Executive Requirement Necessary.

Incompatibility in marriage is soon to be a thing of the past, according to Dr. Max Baff, the Worcester scientist and former fellow in psychology at Clark university, who announces that he has discovered how to measure temperament.

With nothing more than a tape measure, he says, it is possible to find one's affinity and be positively sure that one is marrying the right man or woman.

Dr. Baff has had under observation Massachusetts' best known bachelor, Gov. David I. Walsh. He announced the kind of a wife the governor should find in order to be assured of perfect happiness. Here are the specifications—the result of scientific observation:

She must be from 5 feet 3 inches to 5 feet 6 inches tall.

She must weigh from 141 to 146 pounds.

She must be tactful.

She must be cheerful at all times, especially before breakfast.

She must be sympathetic.

She must be ambitious.

She must be able to sing.

It is essential that she have a mezzo-soprano voice.—Boston correspondence in New York American.

The Whitewash Book.

A voice from the middle west sagely suggests that the real purpose of the Gorman volume dealing with atrocities in Belgium would be clearer if it were called the Whitewash Book.—New York Herald.

Pax Beasts.

I've closed my door and I am all alone. Here in my room, all fragrant with my better self.

Here are my pictures that have waited long for me:

Erasmus with his studious calm;

My playing children and my laughing girl;

My quaint stiff angels and my meek St. John—

They greet me as I come to them for rest.

Up on my shelves my other friends

Are waiting, too, for me; my friends

That take me far beyond my tiny room

And make its sunny space

A gleaming entrance into other lands.

There is my little bed, where all the night

My body lies asleep

And leaves my soul quite free

To wander with the winds.

There is my window where I say my prayers

And look straight out upon the solid hills.

And listen for the rustle of the angels' wings.

My room, all sweet with flowers I love

That grow for me because I love them;

All fragrant, too, with ghosts of flowers

That bloomed and drooped with me;

My room, so still and quiet, yet astir

With all the souls of those that love

And trust me,

Outside, the strife and struggle and the strain;

In here there's peace, and quietude, and strength.

I've closed my door and I am all alone.

should be freed, the ice-rack cleaned, time the feeding bottle and nipple are used they should be rinsed in lukewarm water, washed in hot water to which a small amount of washing soda has been added, and then scalded. Never use a rubber tube between the bottle and nipple. If a case of typhoid fever, scarlet fever or diphtheria breaks out in the family, do not return any bottles to the milkman except with the knowledge of the attending physician, and under the conditions prescribed by him.

Care of Milk Bottles and Utensils.
Milk bottles are made for milk and not to hold sundry other foods. As soon as the milk bottle is empty, it should be rinsed with lukewarm water until it is clean, and then set bottom-side-up to drain. Bottles should never be returned in a dirty or filthy condition. All utensils with which milk comes in contact should be rinsed, washed and scalded every time they are used. When cleaning these utensils, do not wash them in dish water or wipe with ordinary dish towels. First rinse them and then boil in clear water and set away unwiped. If the receptacles are hot, they will soon become dry without wiping.

When a baby is bottle-fed, every results. The whipping cream, as delivered by the milkman, contains 30 to 40 per cent of butterfat. Thoroughly chill the cream before whipping by placing it in a covered bowl on the ice. The whipping process is also aided and hastened by standing the bowl in a pan of ice water.

Two other subjects bearing on the topic or care of milk in the home are pasteurization and the food value of milk. These are treated in U. S. Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin 13, and Bureau of Animal Industry Circular 197, which may be obtained free upon application to the editor and chief of the Division of Publications, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Whipping Cream Should Be Cold.
The above suggestions on the care of milk are equally applicable to cream. Often the housewife finds that the cream she has will not whip. The department's dairy specialists point out that to obtain satisfactory results in whipping cream it should be cold and of the right thickness, containing about 30 per cent or more of butterfat. Ordinary cream, designated as coffee cream by the trade, is altogether too thin to give good

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS BACK FROM CHICAGO

PRESIDENT J. J. HUTCHISON TO NAME IMPORTANT COMMITTEES TUESDAY.

Plans for July and August General Meetings of League to Be Discussed.

Three important committees will be named at the meeting of the directors of the Young Men's Business League Tuesday night. At the meeting two weeks ago, President J. J. Hutchison was authorized to appoint committees to arrange for a celebration at the completion of the million-dollar good roads system, to arrange for a trip to Galveston during the cotton carnival this fall, and to arrange a trade trip by interurban to Corsicana. Appointment of the committees was delayed on account of the absence from the city of President Hutchison, who was in Chicago attending the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. All three committees will be named Tuesday night.

It will probably be decided at the meeting Tuesday night whether the league will follow its usual custom of holding the July and August general meetings in the open air. For the past several summers this has been done on account of the excessive heat noticed in the meeting hall. In case it is decided to hold the meetings in the open, the first will probably be held in Cameron park the second Tuesday night in July. Congressmen R. L. Henry has named this date in his acceptance of the invitation of the directors to address the general membership of the league.

President J. J. Hutchison returned yesterday afternoon from Chicago, accompanied by W. V. Crawford, a director of the league. Other directors who attended the Chicago convention will arrive within the next few days.

Cashing Bad Check Gets Dallas Youth in Serious Trouble

Pleading that he had never been in trouble before, that he was a member of a church and of the Y. M. C. A. in Dallas, and that he had been married only about a year, C. H. Pierce admitted to drawing and cashing a bad check in county court yesterday and was sentenced to ten days in jail and fined $30 by County Judge George N. Denton.

Pierce said that he came here looking for a job, ran out of money and wanted to get to Houston, where he thought he could find work. He went to Goldstein-Miguel's and asked that a $30 check on the First National bank be cashed, one rainy Saturday afternoon after banking hours. When told that he would have to be identified, he went down street and telephoned to the store, saying that he was one of the men at the bank, that the account was good and that he would come over if desired, although he did not want to on account of the rain. He was told to "send the young man over," went to the store, cashed the check and got the money.

The check was turned down and the man at the bank, of course, knew nothing about the telephone conversation. Pierce was finally located in Dallas, Deputy Sheriff Joe Roberts went there, and got him Friday and he commenced serving his ten days last night. He did Judge Denton that his parents would pay his fine. Pierce is 21 years old.

Lawyers' Lunch Club Hears Address By Judge Wm. Sleeper

Only through such an organization as the Lawyers' Luncheon club can the legal fraternity of Waco rise to the high plane that it should, declared Judge W. M. Sleeper in an address before that organization at the semi-monthly luncheon, held yesterday noon at the Higgins hotel. Judge Sleeper told of the many things to be done to make the club a continued success.

By unanimous vote of the club, a vote of thanks and appreciation was given the committees who had charge of the banquet in honor of Justice J. E. Yantis at the Huaco club, two weeks ago last night. The committees were as follows:
General Committee—W. W. Naman, G. H. Penland, R. H. Rogers, Judge Tom L. McCulloch, George W. Cole, Arrangements Committee—George W. Cole, G. H. Penland, W. W. Naman, Walter Cooke.

Program Committee—Ben G. Kendall, Judge T. L. McCulloch, Allan D. Sanford, W. M. Sleeper, J. W. Davis.
The regular semi-annual election of the club will take place at the next meeting, two weeks from yesterday. W. W. Naman is president of the club for this, the first term of its existence, and G. H. Penland, secretary.

Big W O W Picnic At China Springs

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university and candidate for the United States senate, was the principal speaker at the Woodmen of the World picnic at China Springs yesterday. Dr. Brooks' subject was "Work," and he did not touch on politics. A basket picnic followed Dr. Brooks' address, which was delivered at 11 o'clock. In the afternoon addresses were delivered by Pat M. Neff, Tom Hamilton, Judge Tom L. McCulloch, and Col. Bill Poage, who invited everybody to the McLennan county old settlers' celebration in Waco next month. County Attorney John B. McNamara was toastmaster, being presented by Boone Giddings of China Springs.

One of the most pleasing features of the picnic was the music furnished throughout the day by the Nell McCulloch orchestra, which also played a benefit concert at night. The proceeds of the concert at night went to the charitable fund of the China Springs community. W. W. Several hundred persons were present.

New Furniture Store Opens for Business in Waco Wednesday

Waco has a new furniture store, the Household Furniture company, although the men constituting the company are no strangers to the city.

C. C. Witt, formerly with the Stratton Furniture company, organized the new concern and will be manager of the store, which will be located at Nos. 108-110-112-114 North Sixth street, with the entire upstairs. Mr. Witt has lived in Waco almost all his life and the fact that he is to manage the store will vouch for its being run on a high plane.

The stock will be moved into the new store tomorrow and Tuesday. The Household Furniture company will open its doors for business on Wednesday. Buyers for the new firm have already left for Chicago and Grand Rapids with instructions to lay in a line of the very best furniture that the market affords.

Mr. Witt announces that the Household Furniture company will be strictly a one-price store and that the house will sell for cash or on credit. The new institution will be cordially welcomed into the business life of Waco, for it is composed largely of men who have been identified with the city for years and who have made good in their line.

Swinder-Collins Wedding.

Miss Jet Collins and Mr. Reginald Cavanaugh Swinder were married at 10 o'clock last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bahl, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, 1525 Bonhomme boulevard. The house was decorated with white daisies, only immediate members of the family were present, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Witsell of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Swinder left on the midnight Katy for a trip to Houston, Galveston, San Antonio and other points.

Trimble, Ga.—The trouble my son had began with small blisters. His hands, arms, feet and legs were sore and sometimes it was on his head. It finally ran into big eruptions. The places were bad looking and he could not rest day or night. The blisters caused much burning and itching and he would often have to leave the affected parts exposed, with no clothing coming in contact. The places looked red and were very hot and feverish. He would scratch them till they would bleed. His hair fell out badly.

He had been troubled for several months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It was only a matter of two or three weeks before the trouble was gone. "I had the eczema for three years and was healed in four weeks by Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Myrtle Powell, Sept. 16, 1914.

Notice to Subscribers.
Delivery routes in the city of Waco
are in the hands of independent carriers,
who buy their papers at wholesale prices.
Subscription accounts are due them, and the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration
is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This is a fair profit in such a business, and they can extend credit, except month by month.
They are not required, and they are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courteous shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered
throughout the city of Waco by 6:30 a.
m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor
by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Morning News
will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

DEFEAT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

The Morning News finds itself in accord with Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, in his opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment to be voted upon July 24, wherein it is proposed to permit persons away from home to vote
on the presentation of poll tax receipts and the taking of certain oaths
that they have not voted elsewhere
that day and will not do so.

We sympathize with the good men who are detained from their homes on election days and cannot, therefore,
participate in the elections and if it
were possible to so safeguard the ballot box as to securely bar all fraud,
we would not object to the amendment. But it is well known that fraud
has been frequently practiced in elections in the past under our present
regulations, and it is only reasonable to presume that the removal of the inconvenience to which railroad men,
traveling men and others are put in
being denied the privilege of the ballot, it should be borne in mind that in Texas it is generally just once every two years that an election is held in which the masses of the voters are interested and the majority of traveling men take Saturday, the day on which most of our elections are held,
off, anyway, so no serious inconvenience is imposed upon them, for they can certainly afford to take one day off every two years, or even every year, if that be necessary for them to exercise the right of franchise.

Instead of lessening the regulations
for safeguarding the ballot box we should increase them, for we are constantly seeing how frauds have been perpetrated in elections elsewhere and certainly there can be no greater hindrance to a free expression of the people's will than a corrupted ballot.
There can be no freedom of government where such a thing exists. We would like to see the traveling man,
the railroad man and every other honest citizen have the right to cast his ballot at every election with a minimum of inconvenience, but it is infinitely better that a few good citizens be denied the privilege of the ballot than that the way should be paved
for a large number of bad citizens, not entitled to the ballot, exercising that privilege. And past experience has demonstrated that special interests are never slow to use all means at their disposal for the corruption of the ballot box, if by so doing they can serve themselves.

One Jasper, a negro evangelist,
achieved wide fame through a sermon
on the subject, "The Sun Do Move."
Well, people change almost as rapidly
as the sun moves, as witness the fact that Cone Johnson, who a few years ago tore the name of William Jennings Bryan from the head of a democratic ticket and stamped his foot
upon it, on Friday presented William Jennings Bryan with a gold watch on behalf of the employees of the state department where Mr. Johnson has held a job the past two years through the influence of this graciously-forgiving Mr. Bryan.

Privately-owned automobiles and not the jitneys threaten to put the San Angelo street car system out of commission. J. D. Suggs, owner of the traction system, has already cancelled plans for $200,000 in improvements and says so many people there own automobiles and use them that he is seriously contemplating abandoning the street car system and tearing up the tracks.

MR. BAILEY AND DIRECT GOV-ERNMENT.

While ex-Senator Bailey did not say
as much in his San Antonio speech, it is probably the trend toward popular government, as involved in the initiative, referendum and recall, that has aroused his ire particularly and which embodies, in his estimation, the most objectionable phases of what he terms socialism.

And while he is no doubt conscientious in his opposition to measures of this character we believe he is fighting a losing game in his antagonism to them. The masses of the people are better informed than they used to be. They are beginning to think for themselves instead of having their representatives at the state and national capitals do it for them. They are conscious of their growing power
and are becoming more and more prone to exercise it. And why shouldn't they? The whole system of representative government is based upon the principle of the representative carrying out the expressed will of the people and not doing both the thinking and the voting for the people.
And the whole object of the initiative,
referendum and recall is to make more explicit the will of the people and to make possible its readier application.
Direct legislation and direct responsibility to the will of the people do not destroy the fundamental principles of democracy; they rather afford an opportunity for those principles to find actual and concrete expression.

The election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people is an expression of this tendency toward more direct government. Yet this was not the method provided for in the days of Thomas Jefferson and other fathers of the "old time" democracy
which Mr. Bailey is proud to represent. And the time is near at hand when the initiative, referendum and recall will be as firmly established in this country as the direct election of senators. Democracy is the rule of the majority and if the majority wants
these things even so "old-fashioned"
a democrat as Mr. Bailey ought not to object to letting the majority have its way.

We recognize in Mr. Bailey a student of governmental matters, a polished orator and an influential advocate of any cause he espouses. Nor do we fear his return to Texas for the warfare upon socialism and progressive democracy. It is well enough that the people should hear both sides
to all controversies. There are some people in this state, however, who are so completely absorbed in their admiration for the ex-senator that they accept his opinions simply because they are his, and never stop to ponder them
at all. But the country is rapidly coming to adopt many progressive principles of government to which Mr.
Bailey is opposed and strive as he may—and we admire his sturdy stand by his convictions—he will be unable to stem the tide. The initiative, referendum and recall are coming and Mr. Bailey had as well get ready for them, and if not with these there will come soon after them that other thing which Mr. Bailey dreads equally as much, if not more—woman suffrage.

A REAL HERO.

South Carolina ought to erect a monument to the memory of A. D.
Hood, the brave sheriff of Fairfield county, who lost his life defending a negro prisoner against a mob, according to the Houston Post.

So far as the negro was concerned,
the sacrifice was in vain, for when the faithful officer fell the mob quickly
dispatched the prisoner.

But in the broader sense, Sheriff Hood won a lasting victory. He gave up his life in defense of the honor of his state and in fidelity to his sacred duty, and he left an example that will be luminous in the years to come, one that South Carolina should commend to all men who take a solemn oath to perform their sacred official duties,
come what may.

It is too frequent that the brave
officer who falls in the discharge of his duty is not properly appreciated by the public.

Sheriff Hood would not have been more a hero if he had fallen at the head of an army resisting a foreign enemy, for a foreign enemy could not possibly be a greater enemy of the state than a mob striking at a prisoner in the state's custody. Indeed, the domestic mob is the more despicable enemy of the two, because it is conceivable that a foreign enemy may be brave and honorable, whereas a mob is strictly brutal, cowardly, dishonorable and treasonable.

Every state that has been disgraced
by mob murder is under a debt of imperishable gratitude to this South Carolina hero.

He was too fine and splendid to belong to a single county or state. His memory is and ought to be a common heritage, and all brave men ought to cherish it, because he gave his life for the state, for civilization and in defense of the weak and helpless.

An officer who dies as Sheriff Hood died ought to receive not only all the honors of the state, but the state
ought to pension his dependent family
who are thus deprived of their breadwinner. Peace to Sheriff Hood's ashes.

TEXAS GOODS FOR TEXAS INSTI-TUTIONS.

Governor Ferguson is doing well in conferring with State Purchasing Agent Leavy in an effort to confine the purchases of goods for the various state institutions to Texas-made products where the Texas article is as good and can be had as cheaply as the product from other states. There is a great deal of merit in the movement to patronize home industries and we hope that tendency will grow
among all consumers, large and small.

But while the governor and the state purchasing agent are considering the patronage of Texas factories we would like to suggest for the consideration of the governor and the penitentiary commission the advisability of making more of the supplies for Texas institutions in those institutions themselves. We believe these institutions are being supplied already with brooms manufactured by the inmates
of the school for the blind at Austin.
And while the prison commissioners are looking around for something profitable at which to employ the state
prisoners they might consider the rehabilitation and enlargement of the furniture factory at Huntsville for the manufacture of such furniture as may be needed in the various penal and eleemosynary institutions of the state;
its wagon factory might be employed in turning out such wagons and other vehicles as may be needed for the various state institutions; and it would be easy for the furniture factory at Huntsville to turn out school desks
for supplying many of the school
rooms of the state.

Out at Gatesville at the State Training School for Boys the boys are making many of the common clothes for their own use. Why not a similar department at Huntsville for manufacturing the coats and trousers and overalls for the inmates of the adult prison system?

There are lots of things needed in the various state institutions that could be made by the wards of the state. This would serve the twofold purpose of teaching those wards a useful trade, finding profitable employment for them and of providing needed articles for the state at a very economical figure.

While a tax on bachelors and spin-
sters has been debated for many years,
in the rural schools and elsewhere, advice are to the effect that it has been actually imposed in many Austrian and German towns as a war measure. Young bachelors and spinsters under thirty are let off lightly,
but in some instances those over 40
are taxed as much as $250 annually.
This appears to be a rather strenuous means for increasing the supply of war victims.

William Jennings Bryan has announced he will sell his farm near Mission, Texas, which indicates that he will not take up his residence here, following his resignation. But since Senator Bailey is coming back to Texas to make war on socialism and progressive democracy, maybe the Nebraskan could be called in to arbitrate
the questions at issue. Of course he does not want to fight Mr. Bailey—it would be contrary to his well-known proclivities for peace.

The Maple Lawn school district of Dallas county has purchased two auto trucks for taking the pupils to and from the school house. The trucks are to be used exclusively for this purpose and the cost to the district
will be approximately $80 a month.
Rather expensive riding, it would appear, when the need for other equipments for the average school of Texas
is so great.

If you notice any undue pathos in the paragraphs of George Bailey of the Houston Post during the next few days you may attribute it to the grief
of the eminent paragrapher over the loss of those 700,000 gallons of wine
destroyed when a California winery burned last Friday.

Dallas manufacturers, having the largest delegation at the "Made-in-Texas" convention at Fort Worth, botted the meeting and promise to organize an independent organization.
So far we have not been advised as to which "big claims" to be the progressives and which the reactionaries.

We admit that there is an appearance of fair-mindedness about the man who is always ready to give the devil
his due, but as a general thing he'll cheat the Lord without batting an eyelash, observes George Bailey in the Houston Post.

France has established a trades
school for her wounded soldiers and is seeing that each of them who is able to work has an opportunity to acquire a useful trade. And almost any trade is more useful than that of war.

The May floods cost the state of Texas, exclusive of the damage to the railroads, telegraph and telephone companies, the sum of $2,423,000, according to a climatological report by the weather headquarters at Houston.

Ice man Takes Ring

And is Now in Jail

Bennie Hasha, who used to be an ice
man, is in the county jail, charged with theft of a diamond ring from the residence of L. S. Chiles, 1114
North Fourth street yesterday morning. The ring was hanging on a nail near the ice box, and when Hasha took the ice in he couldn't resist the temptation of the "piece of cracked ice
from Tiffany's."

Chief of Police Guy McNamara with the assistance of Plainclothesmen Hall
and Brandon recovered the ring in less than an hour after it was stolen, arresting Hasha. Mr. Chiles was high in his praise for the quick and efficient work of the officers, and has sent the following letter to the Morning News:

"To the Waco Morning News:
"Through your columns I want to thank Chief of Police Guy McNamara
and his assistants Hall and Brandon,
for their splendid service in recovering a diamond ring stolen from my residence 1114 North Fourth street today.

"Efficiency is indeed evident by reason of the fact that these worthy officers located and recovered the ring in less than an hour after the matter
was brought to their attention.

"Yours truly,
"L. S. CHILES."

Goodyear
Fortified Tires
Cost Users $5,000,000 Less

Our last price reduction—
made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about five million dollars this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

tra wear. And we shall spend $100,000 on research this year
to find more improvements still.

They Are Yours

These extras belong to you.
They mean less rim-cuts, less blowouts, less loose treads. They mean more rubber, more fabric,
more mileage, less trouble. Most tire users know that, so Goodyear tires far outsell any other.
Prove it yourself this summer. It will bring you tire contentment.

Any dealer, if you ask him,
will supply you Goodyear tires.

Men are now
adopting Good-
year tires faster
than we can supply them. We have never seen
anything like it.

Yet Note This
Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires
embody many extras. Five are costly features found in no other tire. The rest are found in few.
If we omitted those extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now.

This year's improvements
alone will cost
us $500,000
this year. All

STREETS ARE BEING PUT IN GOOD SHAPE

COMMISSIONER JOHN DOLLINS IS CONNECTING GAPS BETWEEN CITY AND COUNTY ROADS.

VERY FEW BAD PLACES REMAIN

Route Followed by Ambulances to the Hospital is Made Perfectly Smooth.

Proper and satisfying results from a system of paved streets such as were built within the last few years during the term of office of J. H. Mackey, father of streets and parks, come only after the side streets that connect and feed traffic to these main arteries are built. During the first few months that the pavement was thrust out from the center of the city in all directions, the condition of the side and connecting streets which were not paved was brought into bold relief. It was not very satisfactory in bad weather for a driver of a vehicle to turn suddenly off a paved street into deep mud, more noticeable than before the street was paved.

The necessity of bringing these side streets to a proper condition was recognized at once by Commissioner John Dollins, now head of the city street department. The full force of the department has been engaged in this work for several months, with almost astonishing results, results that can not be appreciated without a trip over the city outside the downtown section. The million-dollar system of good roads now being built in this county reaches only to the city limits, and at that to the new city limits, established in an election held after the roads were planned. In this new territory not taken in by the city, streets had not been improved, thus leaving a gap of bad roads between the ends of the city streets at the old city limits and the beginning of the county good roads in the new. Connecting these gaps in a manner to protect the good roads they serve and the farmer a good road all the way to town, the street department has been solving rapidly.

Inspection Trip Taken.
An automobile trip over the city yesterday revealed a scheme of construction put into force by the street department that was a surprise. In East Waco, the Dallas road has been connected with the pavement on Elm street by a macadamized road, built in modern style with proper drainage, which is hardly less smooth than the bituminous macadam of the road itself. This construction gives a good road all the way to town for farmers living on the Dallas road. The condition of Elm street between the end of the city pavement and the city limits was brought into relief by the construction of the bituminous macadam road built from the city limits out. It would seem strange to a farmer to do perfect the way to the city limits, but the perfect road to drop off into mud and ruts just as he got inside the city.

To relieve Elm street of the heavy traffic coming in over the Dallas road, Chestnut street, to the north of Elm, has been graded to connect with the Dallas road two blocks north of its end. Every side street in East Waco has been graded and crowned to afford drainage, the gutters cleared of weeds, culverts built, etc. Lining up the gutters has been delayed somewhat on account of the fact that this work must be done with pick and shovel, no grading or ditching machine having been found to do the work properly. Commissioner Dollins assures that this part of the work will follow rapidly as soon as men can be released from the work.

On the west side, Trice avenue has been graded for several blocks to connect with the Speegleville road, the same being done on Bosque boulevard to connect the bituminous pavement with the McLenahan crossing road. Both of these stretches are heavily graded over a foundation of crushed rock, and will last as well as the bituminous macadam on the country roads.

"Ambulance Road" Fixed.
Perhaps the most important work done by the street department during the last few weeks, on account of its humanitarian aspects, is the grading and graveling to a smooth surface of Fifteenth street north from West avenue to Vermont, and Vermont west to Providence Sanitarium. Ambulances with injured persons have to pass over this road, and the jolting has caused intense suffering and in some cases hastened death. A morning ambulance which carried a man who was shot through the chest on the post office steps several weeks ago. As the ambulance sped over the bituminous pavement which runs all the way out to Fifteenth and West, the wounded man retained consciousness and conversed with men riding with him. When the ambulance struck the rough street past West, the wounded man lost consciousness, which he never regained. In the present condition of the stretch between Fifteenth and West and the sanitarium entrance, no jolt is noticed when a swiftly moving automobile leaves the bituminous pavement.

Nearly every side street in the Provident Heights section has been graded and graveling within the last few weeks. This construction includes Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, Morrow, West avenue, Eighteenth, Colcord, Trice, Fifteenth, Bosque Boulevard and numerous others which are graded for a distance extending from one to several blocks. Within the next week, Eighteenth street will be cut through the former site of the city reservoir on Providence Heights. A cut several feet deep will have to be made to bring the street to a grade between Bosque and Blair. The street will then be graveled so as to give an outlet for Providence Heights fire department, which has had to go around the old reservoir in making runs to fires.

Much Work in South Waco.
In South Waco, much grading and graveling has been done. Seventeenth street from Austin south to Flint has been graded, giving an outlet to the Bell's Hill fire station as well as a good street for residents of this neighborhood to reach the city. Flint and Dutton streets have been graded and will be graveled as soon as money is available for the work. South Eighth street is being reworked to give better drainage. South Fifth and South Third have been repaired and holes filled with gravel and tamped. When Commissioner Dollins was assigned to the street department by the commission against his will, he said that although he felt that he knew more of the workings of the police department, he would do his best in the street department, winding up with the prophetic assertion that he would make good in spite of obstacles. A trip over the city will sustain the prophetic quality of these words. Mr. Dollins is not slow in his praise of the assistance afforded by Dan Ford, street foreman, an experienced construction man, who is in active charge of the street making gangs. It is Mr. Dollins' ambition to put every street in Waco in a good condition. He takes a justifiable pride in the amount of work that has been accomplished by the street department since he has been at the head, for pride based on achievement is always justifiable.

Glenn H. Curtiss Uses a Buick Six

Glenn H. Curtiss, pioneer American aviator and world-famous in the field of aeronautics, is a judge of motors. There isn't an automobile company in America which wouldn't rather sell Curtiss one car than to sell a hundred to almost anybody else that could be named.

The money with which Mr. Curtiss paid for his latest Buick Six is no more valuable than the money with which other buyers pay for their cars. But the judgment that directed the Curtiss purchase is as keen as it could be defined as practically infallible. When Glenn H. Curtiss picks out one car over all the others, it means much to the makers of that car. Approval of a motor car by Glenn H. Curtiss is praise from Caesar.

For Mr. Curtiss knows motor car values. No salesman can tell him what's what in motor cars. No deceptive advertising statement can mislead him. No suggestion of hint or advice from Glenn H. Curtiss when he goes looking for an automobile. He knows.

Time and time again Curtiss has staked his life on a motor. But before he took those chances, he studied motors. Curtiss knows that when you drive a bi-plane high into the clouds you must have power—continuous and unfailing power.

And experience has taught him that for continuous and unfailing power no motor compares with the valve-in-head. That's why the Curtiss flying machines are valve-in-head motors.

That's why all manufacturers of flying machines use valve-in-head motors. When you are down on the broad, firm rock of old Mother Earth, you can take chances with a motor. Then, if your motor stops, or fails to deliver the power you need, you will be inconvenienced, but the inconvenience won't take the form of a broken neck. Up in the clouds, however, you can not afford to have your motor falter. There must be a flow of power constantly, and it must be the greatest amount of power possible to obtain from a motor.

The valve-in-head motor of the kind used in Buick automobiles supplies this need. It is a minute for road flying he chose the Buick.

The Buick Motor company is very proud to have sold a car to Mr. Curtiss. Proud still of the fact that the Curtiss is a Buick. When this famous aviator finds a new model Buick on the market he sells his old car (and always finds a ready sale for it) and buys a new one. When he travels, he takes him so far from home that shipping his car involves too much time and trouble, he avoids delay by buying a new Buick.

Glenn H. Curtiss could have bought a Buick in the world. He would not have hesitated a minute to send abroad for the best car in the foreign market if he thought he could get a better car there than the Buick. By the same token, he could have the most expensive American market affords, if he desired.

But he passes them all for the sturdy, powerful, dependable Buick with the valve-in-head motor. And the reason he does so is because he knows motor values. He knows from long study and experience that the valve-in-head motor, as he puts it, "is unquestionably superior in efficiency." Rest assured Glenn H. Curtiss made no mistake when he selected the Buick. He knew exactly what he was doing, and exactly what he wanted.

The fact that he found exactly what he wanted in the valve-in-head Buick is proof positive that the Buick is the best type of motor car and the best motor car of its type.

Will Muster in New Company Here Next Friday Night

The new Waco company of the Texas National Guard will be mustered in Friday night, officers will be elected and plans made to attend the state encampment at Dallas in August. Almost fifty names have already been secured for the new military organization, which will probably be a machine gun company. It is understood that several prizes will be offered at the state encampment and, if they are, Company K will make an effort to get one for the men very highly when he inspected them last week and complimented them on having an efficient company. Soon after Company K returns from Dallas the annual military tournament for the Sanger cup will be held, date and program of which will be announced later.

Fourth of July is On Sunday This Year

The American small boy is robbed of his heritage this year, for the Fourth of July comes on Sunday. No elaborate celebration is being planned by Wacoans, so far as could be learned, but the citizens of Speegleville will give a big Fourth of July picnic on Saturday, July 3, and it is expected that many from here will attend.

WACO CLEAN-UP WEEK BEGINS THURSDAY: CO-OPERATION ASKED

Next Thursday is the first day of the clean-up week set apart in the proclamation of Mayor Riggins, during which time all good citizens should swat the fly, cut the weeds, remove garbage, and in every way co-operate with the city sanitary department in making Waco the cleanest city in Texas, as it is already the healthiest.

"The city sanitary department stands ready to cut all weeds and haul off all garbage if notified," said Mayor Riggins yesterday. "It is only necessary to call 2805 over the new phone to insure that one of the wagons of the department will call. The department must be informed before it can act, and it is the part of every householder to clean up his premises, cut the weeds or have the department do it, and place all garbage where it will be easily accessible to the wagons, and then call 2805 for a wagon."

Studebaker Manager Says Prospects Good For a Record Crop

"The heavy rains which the west has experienced for the past several weeks may be considered as 'milk' from the manner in which millions of dollars are being made for the people of that section," declared R. T. Higgins, assistant sales manager for the Studebaker Corporation, on his return from a visit made the branches at St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha. "Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska, according to the predictions of those who may be considered well versed judges of conditions and with whom I have talked, will this year, under a continuance of favorable conditions, harvest crops that have hitherto been unheard of in those states, and it might be added, hardly dreamed of by the most optimistic."

"This decidedly pleasing outlook was explained to me by Carl Simons, manager of the St. Louis Studebaker branch, as being due to the fact that great sections of subsoil which have not been wet for several years have been given a rain soaking which makes the ground prime for agricultural purposes. While the downpours have had a bad effect upon motoring for pleasure, nevertheless there is much compensation to be found in the realization that old Jupiter is creating tremendous wealth for the farmers."

"I note the federal crop reporting board has forecast a billion bushels of wheat, in round figures, as indicated for the United States from the forthcoming harvest—the greatest ever grown in the world's history. Domestic consumption and the requirements for seedling purposes will absorb possibly 600,000,000 bushels, leaving a goodly surplus with which to supply export demands, and these may be expected to increase rather than diminish. This would have a natural tendency to maintain prices, meaning a flow of wealth over the United States that should result in unparalleled prosperity."

In the places he had visited Mr. Higgins said he found tradesmen of various lines were taking cognizance of this probable situation and were preparing themselves to reap the benefit. Conditions with Studebaker dealers he found in a highly satisfactory condition, with cars at branches being closed out at striking rates. The fact that Studebaker dealers had made big money the present year is prompting a keen interest in renewals of their contracts for 1916.

Naval Officers Visit Waco Station

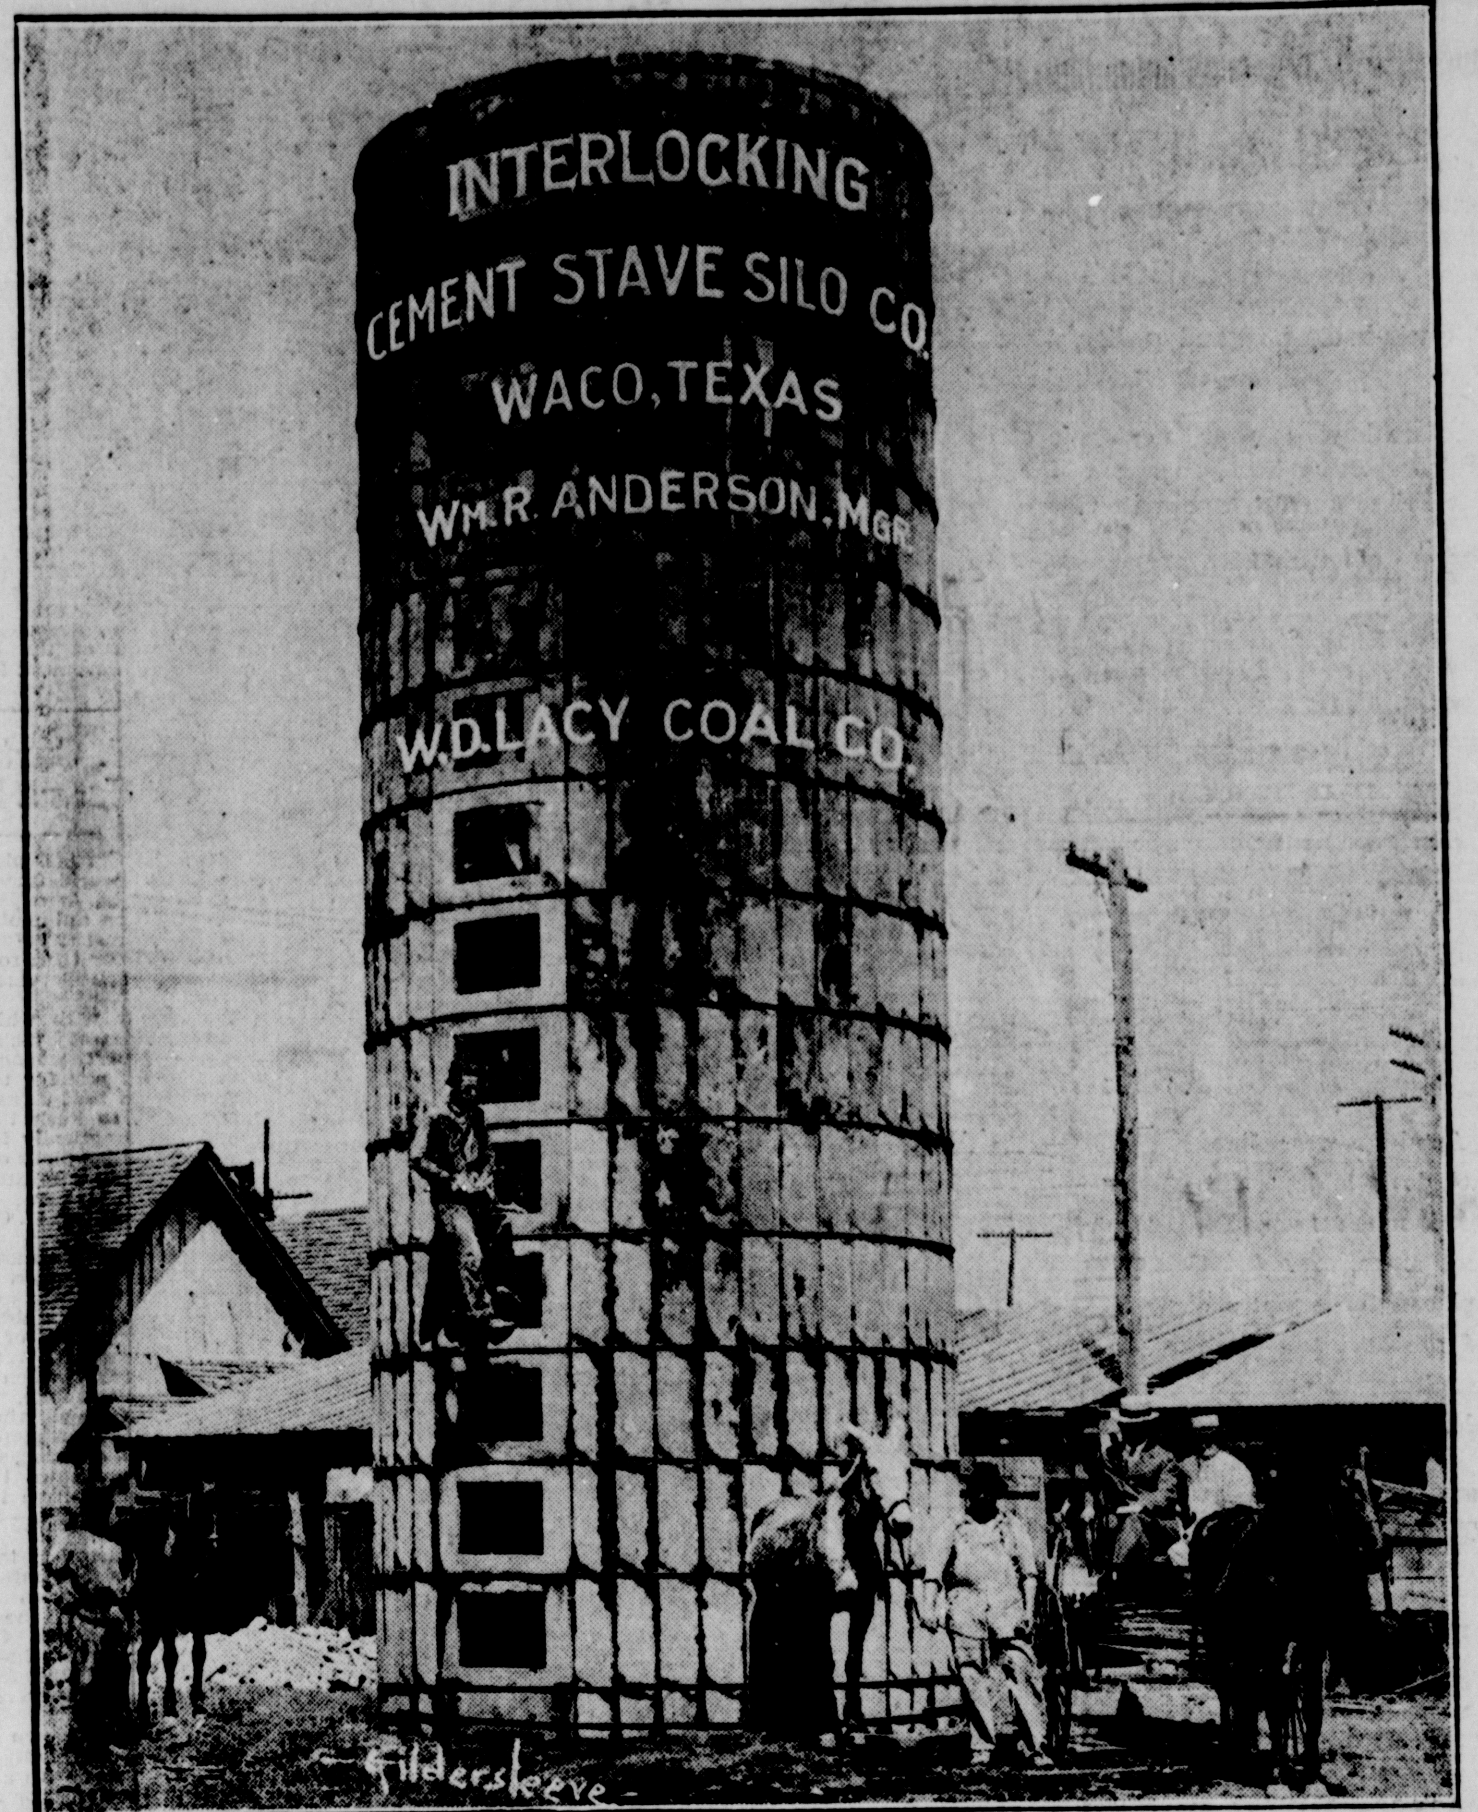

Lieut. A. C. Cunningham and Dr. J. B. Bostick, U. S. N., were here yesterday from Dallas for the purpose of organizing a branch of the naval reserve and on a general inspection tour of the Waco recruiting station of the United States navy. On account of the naval reserve act being so new very little interest has been created in the benefits of belonging to the force, said Dr. Bostick, and for that reason no branches have been organized in this district, comprising north Texas, Oklahoma, and a part of Louisiana. There are nine sub-stations in this district, with the main headquarters at Dallas.

Several applications for membership in the active naval service were passed on yesterday by Dr. Bostick, about five passing the examination. These will go on duty soon as members of the United States navy.

Dr. Bostick came in on the interurban yesterday morning, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Barbara, who is visiting with the Charles Carr family, old friends of the doctor and his daughter. Lieutenant Cunningham came by auto from Dallas. The party will leave today for Dallas, and from there will make a tour of the other stations.

Drillers at Work in Battle Oil Field

Work on drilling the three oil wells contracted for by the McLennan county oil and gas company at Battle began yesterday. Contract for the wells was let several weeks ago, but on account of high water the drillers' rigs could not be shipped from Fort Worth. A thorough test will be made by the oil company on its leases, at Battle, which is thirteen miles east of Waco. Officers of the company are W. W. Seley, president; Dr. C. L. Watson, vice president; Henry Bell, secretary-treasurer.

Pennsylvania Wins Grand Prize at Fair

Word has been received by the management of the Pennsylvania railroad system that it has been awarded the grand prize for its exhibit at the San Francisco exposition. This is the highest honor that can be conferred upon a railroad exhibitor.

Those who have visited the exposition will recall the Pennsylvania display as one of great attractiveness and interest, its conspicuous feature being the two coaches joined together, side by side, to make a room of good proportions for the showing of scenic motion pictures taken along the route of the various lines of the Pennsylvania system. Other features of the exhibit are the models of passenger stations in different cities and the relief map of New York city.

The information supplied the international jury of awards at its request, to be used as a guide in rendering a decision, gives some idea of the extent of Pennsylvania service, investment and equipment. Its annual freight tonnage is equivalent to one ton carried 36,900,000,000 miles and its passenger business is equivalent to one person carried 4,500,000,000 miles. Daily receipts are $1,000,000, the daily wage outlay being $500,000 and the amount paid daily for supplies $250,000.

In normal times nearly 250,000 people are on the Pennsylvania's pay rolls, upward of 1,000,000 persons being directly and indirectly supported by it. It is shown in this information that the Pennsylvania was the originator of the safety first movement and that it was the first to adopt all-steel equipment for its trains. It now owns nearly 3,000 all-steel passenger cars, or one-third of the entire number of the country.

The Pennsylvania system embraces 11,800 miles of line, 26,440 miles of track, 7,500 locomotives, 275,000 freight cars and 6,800 passenger cars. The system traverses thirteen states and the District of Columbia and provides transportation service for more than half the population of the United States. Its 4,500 stations include eight of the ten largest cities of the country.

Galveston, June 26.—It was learned here today that C. L. MacManus, demurrage supervisor for the railroads of Texas, will transfer his headquarters from Dallas to Galveston about July 1. During the coming year he will report directly to the Texas railways instead of to the railway association as heretofore.

NO RULING EXPECTED ON RATE HEARING UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1

In his report to T. P. Duncan, chairman of the Waco shippers' committee, C. W. Payne, who has been attending the rate hearing in Austin, says he does not expect a decision in the matter before September. His report is as follows:

Beg to advise that I have been in Austin almost constantly since June 1, and in various conferences with representatives of chambers of commerce and traffic organizations from other cities, and have to the best of my ability had Waco's interest protected in the record of the hearing.

The hearing will not conclude until June 23, and I have arranged with representatives of other chambers of commerce to advise me of anything that comes up, and have authorized them to proceed in behalf of Waco on any matters that remain to be heard.

The most important position that I took for Waco throughout these conferences, was that the shippers of this city believed that the additional revenue, if any, the commission might find the road entitled to should be provided by a horizontal per centage advance of road hauls. It is not yet decided that this will not be the plan followed. When the hearing on tariffs submitted by carriers has been completed next week, then about the 15th of July the roads will be cross-examined on the exhibits they have made evidencing need of increased revenue, and from this examination the commission will find on the original question submitted, to wit: Whether they are entitled to increase revenue or not.

I beg to report that 75 per cent of the industries, jobbers and shippers, whose rates were brought in question by the hearing now in progress, have stated to the commission that if the proposed advances take effect, they will have to discontinue operations and suffer losses on account of investments. A few compromises were proposed, as the hearing progressed, but these compromises will have to be approved by the commission, and it is understood that they are all subject to a final finding by the commission as to whether increased revenue is to be allowed. Carriers fell down completely on several of the proposed tariffs, that is, they failed to sustain the position advanced in them, and submitted a substitute before the hearing thereon had been completed.

It is generally thought that the commission will level up a few of the commodity tariffs, and perhaps level down two or three that have been discussed. This far the purpose of making the tariffs or rates bear the proper relation to each other, and this may be done without reference to increase or decrease of the revenue of the carriers for the purpose of placing the rate fabric of Texas in a position to withstand an attack of the railroads in the federal court, should the commission find the roads not entitled to increased revenue, and the roads then report to the federal court. The carriers do not hesitate to make the statement that unless the commission provides them means of obtaining increased revenue, they will resort to the federal court.

In the beginning of the hearing, the carriers took the position that they were entitled to the increased revenue that would be produced by the proposed tariffs even though it would cripple Texas industries, but during the past three or four days, they have changed their position, and are now telling the commission that they do not want to cripple Texas industries, but only want increased revenue by any manner that the commission may find it consistent to grant it.

I do not look for a decision on the main question until about Sept. 1. Should the chamber of commerce desire to file a brief on the main question of whether or not carriers are entitled to increased revenue, it should employ an attorney to review the record. I am not advised whether the chamber of commerce desires to take a position on this question or not. I will brief the subject for Calmes & Co., along the lines that the commodities involved can not stand additional freight rates.

I desire to convey through you to Messrs. Hays, traffic manager of the Galveston chamber of commerce, Maxwell of the Dallas chamber of commerce, McCormick of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce, Reeves of the El Paso chamber of commerce, and Wilkerson of the Houston chamber of commerce, and to the representatives of other cities and shippers' organizations, my appreciation for their co-operation in all matters pertaining to the general welfare of the shipping interests of Texas.

Through you thanking the chamber of commerce for the opportunity of serving the Waco shippers, I am

Maccabees to Give Minstrel Show on Night of July 8

With about seventy-five of their members, some of them among the best musical talent in the city, the Maccabees are to give a minstrel show on the evening of July 8 at 8 p. m. in the Majestic theatre. This is to be given in answer to the call for good old-time melodies that one does not hear so often now and will be for a benefit to the local hall, to completely equip their home in the very latest lodge equipment that can be had, and make other improvements in the hall. Rehearsing two nights a week has been going on for several nights and the rehearsals will be kept up at least that often from now on until the night of the performance. The next rehearsal will be held tomorrow night. Charles W. Smith is in charge of the minstrel and directs the rehearsals. That the show will be a success is assured by the fact that some of the best talent of the city are scheduled as stars. One of the stars is an ex-stage dancer and he will put on several dances on the night of the performance. Songs, choruses, dances and novelty numbers will be given. Several of the members scheduled to appear are recognized as among the best singers and musicians that are in the city.

Some of the stars have already been given their parts and many others will be given theirs this week. Among the stars already scheduled are Mrs. Cutler, Miss Alma Webb, Miss Lola Lee Little, Miss Kinnannon, Tom M. Sparks, Harry Bahl, Henry Stubblefield, Harry Daniels, Howard James, Charlie V. Bailey, C. L. Dollard, Geo. Bagby, Johnnie H. Simmons, J. E. Massey and Murray Doyle.

Among the most popular numbers to be given will be old plantation songs and melodies, and the minstrel will close with a scene of the old plantation home. The company will go to Temple the following week after it appears in Waco, to give a performance there.

Roads Will Be Done Inside Four Months Weather Permitting

Work on the Aquilla steel bridge on the Gholson road will be commenced tomorrow morning, according to County Engineer R. J. Windrow. The present "corkscrew" bridge, which has given so much dissatisfaction, will be replaced by a sixteen-foot steel bridge with 120-foot steel span and 150-foot trestle. The old bridge will be taken down as soon as the new one is completed, its floor widened from 12 to 16 feet, and it will be moved to the crossing on the West-Gholson road, a short distance above. Good progress is reported on roads and bridges all over the territory covered by the $1,075,000 bond issue and, with good weather, everything will be completed inside the next four months. The Marlin, Dallas, Fort Gibson and West-Hill county roads are the only ones east of the river that are not altogether completed now and there is about the same amount of work to be done on the west side. Mr. Windrow said yesterday that the Temple road would be completed in about six weeks.

Road experts from all over the country are coming to Waco to see the McLennan county roads and they are unanimous in praising the high quality of work being done and the excellent manner in which Mr. Windrow has planned and is carrying it out.

MORE THAN 20,000 IN COUNTY'S SCHOOLS

SCHOLASTIC CENSUS WILL SHOW INCREASE OF SEVERAL HUNDRED OVER LAST YEAR.

County School Board Will Meet Friday and Take Up Questions of Transfers.

When the county school board meets next Friday in the office of Prof. R. L. Abbott, county superintendent, it is expected that the compilation of the scholastic census will have been completed, present indications being that an increase of between four and five hundred will be shown.

There were 19,559 children enrolled in the schools of McLennan county last year, as to 19,009 for 1913, showing an increase of an even 550. Professor Abbott believes that the total will probably pass the 20,000 mark this year.

Totals for the city of Waco will be completed in the next two days and a good increase will be shown. Most of the increase is in the towns and independent districts, the rural schools just about holding their own. There are 72 districts in the county. The school board will take up the subject of transfers from one district to another and will probably change the classifications of several of the schools over the county. Prof. John Strauss of Robinsonville, is president of the board.

"BUY-IT-IN-TEXAS" MOVEMENT GREATEST YET SAYS CLIFTON

"The buy-it-in-Texas movement is the greatest effort for the benefit of all commercial interests, and both capital and labor, that has ever been devised in Texas," was the statement yesterday of A. T. Clifton, president of the Clifton Manufacturing company, who has just returned from the Buy-It-in-Texas meeting in Fort Worth last week. Mr. Clifton was selected as one of the six original directors of the permanent association that was formed to carry out the idea of the convention. These six directors will meet in Dallas tomorrow to select nine more, the fifteen to constitute the executive board.

"The efforts of Mr. C. M. Woodman, state labor commissioner, who inaugurated the movement, are greatly appreciated by the manufacturing interests of the state," said Mr. Clifton. "His interest shows that he takes a broad view of his office, and is working on the principle that what benefits the Texas manufacturer will also benefit the Texas laborer." Employed by the Texas manufacturer, perfect harmony is evident in the executive board as it is now constituted, said Mr. Clifton, who believes that the action of a number of the Dallas delegation in withdrawing from the meeting in Fort Worth last week does not represent the general attitude of either Dallas business or Dallas labor. The organization as begun includes all manufacturers, public bodies and laboring men.

Big Well Drilled In a New Section of Thrall Oil Field

W. H. Jones returned yesterday from the Thrall oil field, where he went, drawn by the report that a big well was about to be brought in on the black-land lease, two miles from the original well of the field, and within 160 yards of a large section owned by Mr. Jones and the Corsicana Petroleum company, in which a great many Waco people are interested. Mr. Jones said that the well was being cased and would be baled in a few days, when the amount of oil the well would produce would be known.

Drillers, said Mr. Jones, are confident of bringing in at least a fifty-barrel well. Finding oil at this point would extend the proven field two miles in a northwest direction, and would be an encouragement to the efforts of drillers to locate the big oil pool which all believe is to be found under Thrall. Plans are being made for a deep test well to ascertain the amount of oil in the proven field. Drillers have agreed to furnish the rotary and teamsters will haul supplies free.

Three Dozen Books Received in Day For Soldier Boys

Three dozen volumes were contributed to the soldiers' library yesterday and the promise given of quite a large collection of books early the coming week before the opportunity to contribute is withdrawn. Miss Schneider sent sixteen volumes yesterday, W. H. Taylor ten, and Mrs. John F. Marshall, 8. The remaining volumes came from persons who did not care for their names to be mentioned.

This was a very good showing for a single day and the Morning News hopes other contributors will remember the soldier boys within the next three days, as only that number of days remain after today before the donation closes.

Sweet Clover Grown Successfully Here By T. N. Smiley

T. N. Smiley, prominent farmer of near the McLennan bridge crossing of the Bosque, called at this office yesterday with a sample of the yellow variety of sweet clover, which grew very successfully on his place this year and with which he is particularly pleased because his neighbors and other farmers in the county had assured him that it would not grow here at all.

One of the peculiar traits of this class of clover is that it will not grow on ground that is carefully cultivated, as it requires rather hard ground. He planted the few seed that he had on waste spots about his place and the result is very satisfying. Land on which alfalfa dies will grow alfalfa bountifully after sweet clover has grown on it for two years, Mr. Smiley says, and he declares it is one of the greatest soil restorers that is known anywhere. In addition to this very valuable quality, it is very fine as a feed crop, being able to sustain twenty head of hogs to the acre the year round. The hogs graze it down and keep it from growing too rank and seeding.

But it was as a feeder to his bees that Mr. Smiley wanted the sweet clover most, and next year he intends to plant enough of it about his farm to furnish an abundance for his bees and enable them to go to making honey about two months earlier than they do ordinarily. Due to the scarcity of flowers and vegetation suitable to the making of honey, the supply of bees in this county has never been large, he says.

Mr. Smiley likes to experiment with new things on his farm, but no experiment he has made has delighted him more than his success with the sweet clover for in view of the many virtues of that plant, he regards it as one of the most valuable he could employ.

Waco Creek Waters Will Be Turned Into New Course Monday

Waters of Waco creek will be turned into the new channel through the Cotton Palace grounds tomorrow morning. Delay in releasing the water into the new and straightened channel was caused by a little hitch in completing the excavation and the necessity of having the work passed on by the city engineer before the water is turned in. The new channel makes room for the construction of the race track on the new ground of the exposition, and work will begin right away.

Secretary Mayfield and assistants have been busy advertising the Cotton Palace during the past week. Picnics at Hamilton, Chalk Bluff, China Springs, Lott and Chilton have been visited and Cotton Palace posters and souvenirs distributed.

A meeting will be held tomorrow night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of considering plans for the proposed summer race meet.

Business Prospects Getting Brighter

Never before in the history of the automobile business was there such great demand for cars over the entire country. Factories are increasing their output 50 per cent from one year to another, and are getting behind with orders even at that.

The Buick Motor Co. is building 60,000 six cylinder cars this season, which places them first in the production of sixes and enables them to give more real value for the money than any other company producing sixes.

The Herrick Hardware Co., local dealers, report a good business and have already taken sixteen orders in the past few days. Each member of the faculty has a permanent state certificate, all being specialists, and Littlefield will, therefore, have as good a school as there is in the state.

A pleasing feature about these orders is that some of every model have been specified and each one will be well represented from the start.

Lamb Bonds Sell.
Littlefield, June 25.—W. G. Street, secretary of the local school board, reports a ready sale of the $15,000 school house bonds recently voted in this district. The trustees have selected the plans for the building and it is expected the contract will be let July 10. The building, a modern brick, is to be ready for occupancy by Oct. 15, next. The faculty has been elected by the board. Each member of the faculty has a permanent state certificate, all being specialists, and Littlefield will, therefore, have as good a school as there is in the state.

Girls Lose Mother; Policemen Find Her Looking for Them

Frances and Margaret sat in the same big chair in the office of the chief of police yesterday afternoon, while busy bluecoats kept the phone hot trying to find the mother of the little girls, who everyone knew must be looking everywhere for them. Frances is six, and was tearful, Margaret is three, and enjoyed the attentions of the policemen to the fullest.

The little girls knew they stopped at some hotel, and with this as a clue and the telephone, Detective Joe Rutland found where the mother was staying. With their mother, Mrs. W. L. Christian, Frances and Margaret came to Waco yesterday from Mississippi. The three went to a picture show yesterday afternoon, and the little girls wandered out. They had forgotten the name of their hotel, and a passerby took them to the police station, where they were entertained by the kindly officers until the mother could be located.

The result, according to experts, established the reputation of the new wooden track as the fastest in the United States if not in the world.

The performance of the veteran, Harry Grant, in driving the car with the lowest lap time, excited almost as much enthusiasm as Resta's brilliant victory. Grant never hesitated during the entire race, and although he averaged a speed, which landed him in fourth place, was 96.6 miles per hour. The previous record for top record in competition was 90.2 miles.

Twenty-one cars started, and eight dropped out in the course of the race. The finish was but 25 minutes and four seconds behind the victor.
